

WAR FUND FOR FORMER MEMPHIS ALREADY ASSURED

Total is $224,250 and All Teams Are Going Strong and West Tennessee Shows $408,800 in Hand.

Memphis and Shelby county's minimum quota of $300,000 for united war work funds is being met. With some of the wealthier firms and individuals making additional contributions, the campaign is in practically every industrial and commercial establishment in Memphis subscribing liberally, with school children responding generally, and with all the teams working under new pressure and with greater enthusiasm, the campaign is attaining a victory stride. The quota for West Tennessee, $175,000, is in sight. With two more days before the campaign closes Monday evening, Nov. 13, Memphis and Shelby county show pledges of $224,250, while the West Tennessee division, including Shelby and 20 other counties, has $408,800 in hand. Reports for Memphis proper are fairly complete. These from Shelby county are only partial, while those from West Tennessee counties generally are far from complete. Practically nothing has been reported from the negroes since Tuesday, while the "earn and give" division is having its reports pieced up as its work proceeds.

Campaign managers stated Saturday morning they anticipated large additions to the fund when reports were made at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. They are highly encouraged over the big results accomplished Friday, when the best showing for any single day of the campaign, with the exception of the first, was made. Team workers, too, were enthused over the successful turn the drive has taken and with after subscriptions Saturday with renewed force and confidence.

The wonderful response of the school children of Memphis is one of the most gratifying features of the campaign. They have pledged, from money which they have already earned or will earn within the time allotted them, $7,989.57, according to reports by the "earn and give" division. Equally encouraging is the magnificent response made by employees and working people throughout the city. There are almost every industrial and commercial establishment in Memphis per cent participation in contributing to the fund. Some are giving one day's pay. Others are making straight contributions in cash or pledges. But, whatever the medium, a veritable tide of gold is flowing from employees into the fund. Sixteen employees of the Memphis street railway gave four days' pay and every employee of that corporation contributed. Friday afternoon, 100 percent showing. One young woman, with four sweethearts at the front, pledged $20.45 for each. Four elderly women making their living by sewing, added $10 to the fund, giving $250 each, matching the widow's mite in Biblical history.

The boys at Park field, who have been beneficiaries of the activities of the Y. M. C. A. and other welfare organizations, are showing their appreciation of what these bodies are doing. They sold tickets to the railroad for $1.00 each, $500. They are still in the campaign and further contributions through them are expected.

William R. Moore Dry Goods company has increased its original donation of $1,000 to $1,500. The four big department stores in Memphis have come even stronger, doubling their previous contributions of $500. Among other larger contributions reported Friday afternoon are: Joseph Newburger, $1,000, and the Richmond-Crosby company, $1,000.

J. R. Hyde, team No. 11, led the field for the third day in succession. He reported a total of $1,585.65, bringing his record to $3,000. The four big department stores in Memphis have come even stronger, doubling their previous contributions of $500. Among other larger contributions reported Friday afternoon are: Joseph Newburger, $1,000, and the Richmond-Crosby company, $1,000.

Challenges are still reaching Memphis from counties in West Tennessee. Shelby county has advised Memphis and Shelby that it is holding back returns to prevent embarrassment here but that it can not afford to do so much longer. It has likewise challenged Shelby that it will raise 25 percent over subscription if the former will increase its original quota by 50 percent.

Special teams have been assigned to wait on the theaters and moving picture houses at matinee and evening performances. The teams are being trained by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. and the teams will speak and the team workers will be there to take pledges of all willing to contribute.

Left, Gates Ambrose, recently returned from France, where he was wounded while flying before Secretary of War Baker made a brief address Friday afternoon, during which he said the boys overseas appreciate the work of the war relief organizations more than they can express and that they are proud of the magnificent manner in which the folks at home have backed them up. He was given the greatest ovation of any speaker who has appeared in behalf of the war fund drive because Memphians wanted to show him how highly they appreciated his self-sacrifice and heroic daring in their behalf.

ITALIAN ORPHAN TO BE GUEST OF HONOR
The little Italian war orphan adopted by the students of the Normal school last spring will be one of the guests of honor at a Christmas dinner for the war orphans adopted by the different schools in the United States to be given by the school for the children of refugees at Siena, Italy, according to a letter from Miss Willie C. Johnson, former teacher at the Normal.

Miss Johnson, who was for five years instructor of Latin and Greek at the Normal school, went to Italy last spring to help in the civilian relief work under the supervision of the American Red Cross. At present she has charge of the school for children at Siena.

Dr. A. A. Kincannon, president of the Normal school will leave for Chicago Nov. 20 to deliver an address on the reconstruction of the school system before the meeting of the National Association of State University Presidents, to be held in the city Nov. 21.

Normal's contribution to the united war work fund up to date is $2,000. Every student in the school, as well as members of the faculty are determined to do their share to keep the boys sailing over there.

Dr. C. H. Davis, for two years head of the agricultural department of Normal school, also an expert military surgeon, recently was commanding first lieutenant in the regular army and left Friday night for Camp Gordon, Georgia.

Messick School.
"See that fellow who has been bending over his rhinoceros strap on and start and draw a breath like a deep sea diver? Well, he's our boy," said a Messick student.

The boy indicated as being "our boy" had suddenly remembered one of the tales of his home when he was a child. He had become a "health crusher" to all straight and breathe deeply.

At the Messick school, a visit from Miss Margaret Messick, formerly Miss Irene Rogers, of the Antietam school, who had been a student of the school, and who had been a member of the ranks of the "health crusher" and pledged to do all in their power to defeat the germ enemy in fresh air, clean lines and proper breathing and exercise.

Messick now has a model dormitory kitchen and classroom, and the girls from the fifth through the eighth grades are becoming experts in cooking and sewing.

One of the four school orchestras in Shelby county has been organized at Messick during the past week. It is composed of 18 members, and the girls are well trained and show exceptional musical talent.

NEGROES WILL RAISE THEIR FULL QUOTA
Prospects are bright that negroes of Shelby county will raise the entire quota of the united war work fund assigned to them, according to T. H. Hayes, county chairman.

He announces that workers in industrial establishments throughout the county are subscribing on a 100 per cent basis and urges those engaged in professional, business and other activities to come across as liberally as employees are doing.

Sunday, in all the negro churches, special emphasis will be laid on the necessity that every man, woman and child must do his or her duty. Four-minute men will deliver addresses in all these churches and parks will be the effort to reach at least 10,000 persons during the several services of the day.

The chairman says very encouraging reports are coming from the schools where the children are working hard to raise the largest subscription they have ever made to war work. Special teams are being organized to take the field Monday if results reported Saturday are not big enough to assure the quota of negroes in this county.

EXCHANGE CONGRATULATIONS
F. M. Crump, president of the Memphis Cotton exchange, is in receipt of messages from the heads of two of the prominent cotton associations in Europe, acknowledging his felicitations on the successful ending of the war.

The following came from President Crump of the Liverpool association: "The Liverpool Cotton association rejoices with you in this hour of victory, when right has at last triumphed over might."

Augustus Massinger, president of the Havre Cotton association, cables as follows: "In the name of the Cotton association I tender you my sincerest thanks for congratulations and beg to convey to you my heartfelt gratitude for what America has done for us. Liberty and justice shall not perish. America and France are united forever."
